I was born to fly away and run across the sun
It faded out like a candle in the breeze
Fading out like I m supposed to
                    G/B
So everyday I m against the wall with nowhere to turn to
                    G/B
And if I dare to believe it all it leaves me deflated

When my mind begins to stray and my thoughts begin to run
          G/B
I ve played it out I can t seem to find the peace I ve heard about
Am I not supposed to?

So everyday I could lose it all, don t let this concern you
                   G/B
So will you catch me if I fall and keep me elated?

                       G/B
And if I knew I could change it all I d hope that you waited
                      G/B
And if I knew I could change it all I d hope that you waited
