Dark As The Black
Serena Ryder

On the record this song is in the key F major but I ve seen her play it live in key G major which I think is easier to play, so that s what I m gonna post here. If you want to play along with the record, just play F instead of G, Bb instead of Cadd9, C instead of D and Dm instead of Em.

Intro: G G | Cadd9 G | Cadd9 Cadd9 | D (4 bars)

        G                             Cadd9 G
There s a crack in the ground from Water-loo,
      Cadd9        D
All the way to Arizona
       G                      Cadd9         G
I can see from the fire escape outside
     Cadd9            D              Em
That helped me get to know you

                  Cadd9
What was it like,
      D                   G
When I was in your life?
    D                       G
Did my touch feel the same?
            D
As your touch it felt so good to me,
                          Em
It felt so good to me

          D           G
One world, One love,
                    Cadd9              Em
means nothing if you re just pretending
          D         G
One World, One Love,
                  Cadd9
There s nothing to good intentions
Em                 D                      Em
Dark as the black in the cracks in the ground.

          G                             Cadd9 G
There s a crack in the ground from Tennessee
        Cadd9        D
All the way to Caledonia
       G                    Cadd9         G
I can see by the way the silence rings
    Cadd9          D         Em
and echoes in the corners.
```

              Cadd9
How many times
D                   G
you wanted to cry,
     D                 G
but you kept it inside
           D
Now the silence echoes deafening,
                          Em
Its much too loud for me.

            D           G
One world, One love,
                    Cadd9              Em
means nothing if you re just pretending
            D         G
One World, One Love,
                  Cadd9
There s nothing to good intentions
Em                D                          Em
Dark as the black in the cracks in the ground.

        G                            Cadd9    G
There s a crack in the ground from old New York,
       Cadd9         D
all the way to Minnesota
     G                    Cadd9         G
I can see by the way ten thousand lakes
   Cadd9              D        Em
are screaming for more water

                  Cadd9
Give us some hope
   D                 G
we haven t got enough
   D                      G
to keep ourselves filled up
             D
when you drink us empty, drink us dry,
                          Em
then ask us why we re dry

            D           G
One world, One love,
                    Cadd9              Em
means nothing if you re just pretending
            D         G
One World, One Love,
                  Cadd9                    Em
```

There s nothing to good intentions
```
        D             G
```
One world, One love,
```
                    Cadd9                   Em
```
means nothing if you re just pretending
```
      D           G
```
To do your part,
```
              Cadd9
```
There s nothing to good intentions
```
Em                      D                           Em
```
Dark as the black, in the cracks in the ground
```
                      D                       Em
Dark as the black, in the cracks in the dark
              D                             Em
as the black, in the cracks in the ground.
