You say we dont need a safety net; we need a fire hose, and you say that were burnin, burnin, you tell me weâ€™re ready to blow.

But aint there somethin to be said for likeability?

Something goods going to happen.

Someone will take us in under their wing and then were gonna be alright; we are still good-looking.

Well, somewhat good-looking, and everything counts in its way.

We are rising stars, and we wont need bootstraps.

Well hang on to kind hands of people with faces like ours.

Well hang on to kind hands of people with faces like ours.
