Song: You and the Mona Lisa

by: Shawn Colvin & John Leventhal

CD: A Few Small Repairs

From: Andrew Lyon

The song starts in the key of G, and modulates up a minor third to the key of Bb for the chorus.

I have transcribed this for three guitars;

1) The open tuning of C7/9 as follows;

Eb Bb C# F# B Eb

Ebm - xx2020 A - xxx321 C#sus2/sus4 - xxx020 D - xxx876 B - xx2000 F#m7 - xx3323 Bbm - xx0422 E - xxx555

2) An altered tuning where the 6th string is tuned up to G; F# G# C# F# Bb Eb

Ebm - 079xxx A6 - 013xxx C#sus4 - 057xxx D - 068xxx B - 035xxx F#m7 (no 3rd) - 053xxx Bbm7 (no 3rd) - 224xxx E - 233xxx

3) Standard tuning.

C#sus2 - xx0230 Bbm7 - x24232 Gm7 - 353333

Intro:

Ebm
                C#sus2
Hold me down to anything
                 Bbm7
Anything that you see
                C#sus2
                         В
                               Bbm7
I should walk away right now
                  C#sus2
I ll be there, so never mind
I ll be the one to fall
           C#sus2
Waiting for you to look up at me
Oh I love you the most
      D
Always giving up the ghost
       F#m7
                           Е
In your own private conversation
You re a sweet mystery
There is nothing in between
F#m7
You and the Mona Lisa
Ebm C#sus2 B Bbm7
Ebm
              C#sus2
Nothing in particular
                    Bbm7
And everything in between Ebm
                 C#sus2 B
                             Bbm7
This is what you mean to me
Ebm
             C#sus2
Only you and only me
                       Bbm7
Climbing in the right direction
              C#sus2 B Bbm7
On the way to everything
We were walking up high
And no one thought to try
   F#m7
But I was the one to blame
It was just a mirage
So I hid in the garage
          F#m7
Until somebody called your name
