Intro:

D G

D Bm G A

D G

D Bm G A

D G
The darkness, the coal mines knew it best

Bm G A
When the daylight headed west and disappeared

D G
Progression, on the morning goes

Bm G A
But regardless no one knows the day has cleared

G
Oh we are blind

A Bm

G A D

G A Bm
I ll be the flowers of the field that slowly bloom

G A D
While you are soundly sleeping on the ground

G A Bm
And I ll be your escort in a sad waltz around the room

G A D
I ll twirl you all around without a sound

D G D Bm G D G D Bm G A

D G
The snowfall, the great lakes know it best
Bm G A

When the summers travel west and disappear

D

G

Like dry ice, the snowcaps on the hills

Bm

G

A

Melt like 50 dollar bills of our new year

G

Oh we are cold

A Bm

G A D

G A Bm
I ll be the flowers of the field that slowly bloom

G A D
While you are soundly sleeping on the ground

G A Bm
And I ll be your escort in a sad waltz around the room

G A D
I ll twirl you all around without a sound

G A Bm
We re trying hard to alleviate this dizzy feeling

G A D
We re skipping meals because it feels that bad

G A Bm
If we survive we ll stay alive below the ceiling

G A D
Of new atmospheres and brighter years that we ll have
