VERSE 1

	A7		D		A
It seems the day that your house burned to the ground
	A7		D		A
Was the day that you d always planned to leave anyway?

And the vast empire you come through to get here
	A7		D		A
Makes the world look like pennies in my hand

I ll never let go, I ll never let go, you said out loud
	G		D		A
I ll never let go, I ll never let go, you shouted out

And your words shook me right out of a daydream
I was lost somewhere cold and it looked haunted
I was asking strangers but no one understood me
I was drenched in sweat when your words came to me

I ll never let go, I ll never let go, you shouted out

It was the last highway you would ever travel
The long road from a daughter, wife and son
When the bus stopped a beat from California
Your tired feet, they ached over the road

I ll never let go, I ll never let go, you shouted out
