Intro: Bm A

```

Bm                                     A
Why do we have to break down to know if it s real?
Bm                                     A
Why do we have to hurt ourselves to learn how to feel?
Bm                                     A
Why do we learn the right way by doing the wrong?
Bm                                     A
And why does it start to make sense when its in a song?

```

                D                                     A
I know that you told me once, but would you please tell me again,
                Em                 G                 A
When do I kiss goodbye my troubles? the struggle never seems to end?
                D
Why is the truth always so painful?
                A
Why are the lies so easy to take?
                Em                 A
But don t worry, cause I can wait

```

( Bm A ) (2x)

```

Bm                                     A
I know there s somebody out there who knows what I mean:
Bm                                     A
Silent on the outside, but inside you scream
Bm                                     A
Trying to let it out, but it s just too much,
Bm                                     A

```

And then it all comes out when we re so drunk
