The Hunt
(Difford, Tilbrook)

B-side to Black Coffee In Bed , 1982

```
C
Give a man a gun, give him a cigar

He ll think about a shot sitting at a bar

Strip him of his clothes, stand him in the light

Sweat upon his brow, frightened by the sight

Em              G    Bm              F
Draw him like a bow, aim him at the world
C               Eb         D                       F
He pretends to know and then he ll swim up to the rocks
         C
He ll be beaten by the fox

C
Give a man a drink, give a man the time

Drink into his thoughts bottled up inside

He ll tell a few jokes, stumble in the dark

Trips upon the stairs, he s fallen apart

Em              G    Bm              F
Draw him like a bow, aim him at the world
C               Eb         D                       F
He pretends to know and then he ll swim up to the rocks
         C
He ll be beaten by the fox

Em G Bm F Em G Bm Dm
