

Little White Lies

Status Quo

Parfitt

Great song with beautiful harmonies. There is a guitar playing small intervals palm muted throughout the song. There is an acoustic guitar strumming all the chords (yes, all the chords, not just three!). And a few overdubs. It might be that the acoustic guitar is played with a capo on the fifth fret. I will give you a version without a capo but the chords can be difficult to place. You can use the easier to play alternatives. I can give you some if you need em.

When you see Bb/D it means you have to play a Bflat major triad with a D in the bass. For the harmonic feel it is important that you play the chord that way. That harmony is too beautiful to ignore. Not when you are playing it with your band of course cause your bassplayer can play it then.
