D A
There s a man sitting in a concrete room
Bm G A
In a place full of emptiness and gloom
D A
With his head in his hands he s far away
Bm G A
It s a long time ago since yesterday

D C
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
G A D
In his world of nothing at all
C
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
G A D
In his world of nothing at all

As a boy he had made so many friends
Now they re gone loneliness just never ends
And in that cold concrete room he trials the day
Yes, the price of a life is hard to pay

And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
In his world of nothing at all
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
In his world of nothing at all
