you ll wanna thank her.
The floor will never hesitate to hold you.
Commiserate your tears when you re awake
But even while you sleep I ll feel your pain in all your tears
I ll hold you closer [Chorus]
So far above me
      Fm
So far below us
           C
I ll always lose sleep
         Am
but never lose touch
                                              Fm
The space between our lips will always be too far
                              C/B
                   C
The voice over the phone will never be enough

So far above me (I just want something)
So far below us
I ll always lose sleep (broke and breaking)
but never lose touch
                                               Fm
The space between our lips will always be too far (always too far)
                              C/B Am
The voice over a phone will never be enough (broke and breaking)
