Another year s gone so fast

Another life becomes the past

Under the weight of dreams

Feelings clash

A satellite across the globe

G

This window seat becomes my home

D

I lay awake for hours staring at the world below

Em, C, G, D all throughout song except chorus and bridge.

(No idea with the chorus. All I know is that it has the D and C chords in it.)

Into the waves again I go

Holding on to you

I found a way to make it through

By holding on to you

Another night just slips away

Wishing the time would let me stay

Stuck in between two lives that could never be the same

I remain without a chance to say to you

That every word I said was true

I lay awake all night just staring back at you

Into the waves again I go

Holding on to you

I found a way to make it through

Holding on to you

Just one more day we ll make it though

Will you - still feel the same way that I do

Will you feel the way I do

Into the waves again I go

Holding on to you

I found a way to make it through
Holding on to you
Into the waves again I go
Holding on to you
I found a way to make it through
So I m holding on to you

Just one more day we ll make it through
We ll make it through
