

Creation Sings
Stuart Townend

capo 1

A                      E              A
Creation sings the Father s song;
A                      E      D    F#m
He calls the sun to wake the dawn
F#m                      D      E    A
And run the course of day
A                      E              A
Till evening comes in crimson rays.
A                      E              A
His fingerprints in flakes of snow,
A                      E      D    F#m
His breath upon this spinning globe,
F#m                      D    E      A
He charts the eagle s flight;
A                      E              A
Commands the newborn baby s cry.

CHORUS:

A    E                      F#m
Ha lle    lu    jah!
            D      A      E              A
Let all creation stand and sing,
A    E                      F#m
Ha lle    lu    jah!
D              A                      D              A
Fill the earth with songs of worship;
D              A                      E              A
Tell the wonders of creation s King.

A                      E              A
Creation gazed upon His face;
A                      E              D    F#m
The ageless One in time s embrace
F#m                      D    E              A
Unveiled the Father s plan
A                      E              A
Of reconciling God and man.
A                      E              A
A second Adam walked the earth,
A                                      E      D    F#m
Whose blameless life would break the curse,
F#m                                      D    E      A
Whose death would set us free
A                                      E              A

To live with Him eternally.

CHORUS:

A                                E        A
Creation longs for His return,
A    E    D    F#m
When Christ shall reign upon the earth;
F#m                        D        E        A
The bitter wars that rage
A    E        A
Are birth pains of a coming age.
A    E        A
When He renews the land and sky,
A    E        D F#m
All heaven will sing and earth reply
F#m                        D        E        A
With one resplendent theme:
A    E        A
The glory of our God and King!
