There are many versions of this song on the internet, but all I did was look at a video of Tegan performing it live on the internet. I only focused on Tegan's guitar and the chords are actually VERY easy. If you search "My Number Live at Criminal Records," you will see what I mean. The strum is sort of complicated, but it is easy to see on the video. The song is slower and more gentle than the original album version and they only go through the whole song once. On the album, they sing the entire song twice.

Intro: Am, G, C (x2)

Showers pounding out a new beat, I trade my old shoes for new feet,
