

She Lays Down
The 1975

[Intro/Verse]

E|-----3-----3-----|
B|---/3---1---0-----0-----1-----0-----|
G|---0---0---0-----0-----0-----0-----|
D|-----0h2-----|
A|-----|
E|-----3-----3-----3-----3-----3-----3-----|

It s not exactly what he s playing but just mess around with something like this during the verse andyou should sound good. If you want to strum just strum a G and hammer on the 2nd fret on the D string every once in a while.

Third line of the verse (The Chemicals that make her laugh... Even though her son is gone... She just wants to feel something... etc.) it change to a D then Back to a G, something like this:

[Verse]

      A
And she lays down on her bedroom floor
      E
The chemicals that make her laugh
              A
Don t seem to be working anymore
      A
She tries her best, but it hurts her chest
      E
And even though her son is gone
              A
She d like to love her child nevertheless

Just repeat that for all the verses.

[Chorus]

(The Chorus is where it gets a bit tricky, here s my interpretation of it)

E              A      F#
And I don t think that s asking for too much
Bm              E      A      F#      D
And when I go to sleep it s when she begins to weep
      Dm              E      Emaj7

She s appalled by not loving me at all

D E
She wears a frown and dressing gown

A
When she lays down

(The most important thing is the play the chorus with a sort of descending bass line

so I finger the chords something like this)

She s Appalled by not loving me at all

E
B |-----3-----3
-----|
G |-----0-----0
-----|
D |-----1-----1-----4-----4
-----|
A |-----3-----3-----3-----3-----5-----5-----5-----5-----4
-----|

So here s the chords for the entire song:

[Verse 1]

A
And she lays down on her bedroom floor

E
The chemicals that make her laugh

A
Don t seem to be working anymore

[Verse 2]

A
She tries her best, but it hurts her chest
