Intro: C Am F G

C Am
This city is haunted by the ghost of failure, I am one and you are one
F
We ve spent this whole time on the run from a lie that I told
G
That you closed your eyes and you chose to believe

C
So now you ask me for honesty, Just take a second, breathe
Am
I m not good enough for you, you were never good enough to me
F G
No one s ever good enough to be, or have something so na~ve

C
When I broke my hand on your car, when you told me you were leavin
Am
And I begged for your forgiveness, my broken fingers bleedin
F G
My heavy heart repeatin , afraid, just stay here with me

Am G F C
Then you took your clothes off instead, and you danced around my room
Am G G C
Don t worry, you said, cause the end is coming soon
Am G F C
And we ll meet again someday and we ll toast these stunning ruins
G F G C
For the bride I ll never be, and the groom

C Am F G

C

Now I picture you like snowflakes, like desperate pouring rain

Am

Like the beating of the drum in the parade of the insane

F

You are the whisper in my ear, when I wake and no one s here

G

There s just the echo of your name

C

So now you ask me for honesty, I close my eyes, breathe,

Am

I m the one who always is so ready to leave

F

To be a distant memory

G

To be a ship disappearing in the sea

C

And I crashed upon your rocks when I heard your voice singing

Am

And I begged for your love with my busted ears ringing

F

My hopeful heart repeating

G

You are more than the promise of the sea

Am
