

Change Your Mind
The All-American Rejects

Ok, this is my first but i have a feeling its ok. Hope u enjoy it!

C                      F                      Am                      G
Dont solve the problem when danger is bitter

C                      F                      Am                      G
Far away where you stock them in cages that tether

Pre-Chorus:

F                      C
And all the bridges you ve burned

F                      C
Leave you trapped out at all sides

F                      C                      F                      G/C
Now the tables do turn and its all gone whats left for you

Chorus:

F                      C                      F                      G
And when the sky is falling, dont look outside the window

F                      C                      F                      G
Step back and here I m calling, give up, dont take the fast road

F                      C                      F                      C
Its just your doubt that binds you, just drop those thoughts behind you

F    F              C    G
Now, Change your mind and let go too soon

Sit down, youre sinking, there s no one to watch you
Skip town youre thinking, there s no one to stop you

Pre-Chorus...

F                      Am                      F
Dont run away, stop feeling fine

F                      C                      G
Its better than your worst, your worst day

F                      Am                      F
No words to say, I ll give you mine

F                      C                      G
And pocket all the hurt, and just stay

F                      Am
Dont run away

F                      C                      F
Its better than your worst, your worst day

Chorus (softly)

Chorus

F                      C/Am
Dont run away

F                      G
Change your mind

G                      F
And let go too soon                      (x4)

That s all, hope you enjoy and hope you agree!
