

Change Your Mind
The All-American Rejects

Ok, this is my first but i have a feeling its ok. Hope u enjoy it!

D                      G                      Bm                      A
Dont solve the problem when danger is bitter

D                      G                      Bm                      A
Far away where you stock them in cages that tether

Pre-Chorus:

G                      D
And all the bridges you ve burned

G                      D
Leave you trapped out at all sides

G                      D                      G                      A/C
Now the tables do turn and its all gone whats left for you

Chorus:

G                      D                      G                      A
And when the sky is falling, dont look outside the window

G                      D                      G                      A
Step back and here I m calling, give up, dont take the fast road

G                      D                      G                      D
Its just your doubt that binds you, just drop those thoughts behind you

G    G            D    A
Now, Change your mind and let go too soon

Sit down, youre sinking, there s no one to watch you
Skip town youre thinking, there s no one to stop you

Pre-Chorus...

G                      Bm                      G
Dont run away, stop feeling fine

G                      D                      A
Its better than your worst, your worst day

G                      Bm                      G
No words to say, I ll give you mine

G                      D                      A
And pocket all the hurt, and just stay

G                      Bm
Dont run away

G                      D                      G
Its better than your worst, your worst day

Chorus (softly)

Chorus

G                      D/Bm
Dont run away

G                      A
Change your mind

A                      G
And let go too soon                      (x4)

That s all, hope you enjoy and hope you agree!

~LF