

The Unfaithful Servant
The Band

B F# C# C#m7
Unfaithful Servant, I hear you leavin soon in the mornin
B F# G# C#
What did you do to the lady, that she s gonna have to send you away?
B F# C# C#m7
Unfaithful servant, you don t have to say you re sorry,
B F# G# C#
If you done it just for the spite, or did ya do it just for the glory?
Ebm C#
Like a stranger you turned your back,
C#m B Bb
Left your keys and gone to pack.
Ebm Bm
Bear in mind who s to blame, and all the shame;
G# G#m7 G
She really cared, the time she spared and the home you shared.

Unfaithful servant, I can hear the whistle blowin,
Yes, that train is a-comin and soon you ll be goin .
Let us not bow our heads for we won t be complainin ;
Life has been good to us all
even when that sky is rainin .
To take it like a grain of salt is all I can do. It s no one s fault,
Makes no diff rence if we fade away.
It s just as it was, it s much to cold for me to stay.

B F#
Goodbye to that country home,
C# C#m7
So long to a lady I have known,
B F#
Farewell to my other side,
G# C#
I d best just take it in stride.
B F# C# C#m7
Unfaithful Servant, you ll learn to find your place;
B F#
I can see it in your smile,
G# C#
and, yes, I can see it in your face.
Ebm C#
The mem ries will linger on,
C#m B Bb
But the good old days, they re all gone,
Ebm Bm
Oh! Lonesome servant, can t you see,

G#

G#m

G

That we re still one and the same, just you and me.