

The Reason Is The Beautiful Girls

This is such a chill beach song, I was really surprised no one had tabbed it out, so here we go :) Now all you need are some bongos bro ;) The bridge is interesting because although the chords repeat, they have different tones. You ll see that the chords go from C1 to C2 (which is just the C chord moved up two frets, and then C3 to C4 (which is the C power chord moved up two frets). This creates the different tone which you hear in the song, but if you want to be lazy about it, you could go C to G and repeat.
