Should ve Kept My Eyes Shut
by Paul Heaton and David Rotheray

E C#m
I should ve kept my eyes shut
E C#m
But I had to go and peep
E C#m
But when you saw what I saw
F#m B C#m B
Well, it s hard just to roll back to sleep

I would ve kept me eyes shut
But I thought I heard you scream
And I ve a penchant for violence
You don t seem to find in a dream

A E
The scene a little clearer
A E
My father with a rope
A E
And in the cage, centre-stage
C#m B
It s mother who s destined to choke

F#m B
And she choke and we choke
E A
On the words that we wish we d not spoke
F#m B
Just when you felt you had someone to trust
E Eb A B
Up comes the man with a dagger and cloak

I should ve read the novels

Believed every word
But the stories they wrote
Were so different to ones that I d heard

I should ve kept my eyes shut
My mouth should ve closed
But the mixture of vomit and blood
Just crept up through my nose

It became a little clearer
As soon as I awoke
My father stands with rope in hand
A screaming mother kneels in hope

And she hope and we hope
That the words that she said won t provoke
A smile is removed and a petal is crushed
What once was a laugh has turned into a joke

You should ve kept your mouth shut
