Does Your Harbor Light Still Shine

I recall someone once saying that this was the best song that you cannot dance to because the offbeats and the beat changes through out the song... Here are the chord, I m not gonna try and place the chords because its impossible to do... Just listen to the song for timing, its pretty easy once you get the strum down...

I m drifting out at sea, Captain Misery
Will I make it through the night?
I see no land in sight

The water tastes like salt,
These clouds are not my fault

Tell me little sister, does your harbor light still shine?
