```
      G              C              G
The show was a big one, an old rodeo

                        C              D
They d been trying to hire us for a few years or so

      C              G
The grandstand was bursting, the infield was full

                        D              G
They d run all the chucks and they d bucked all the bulls

I felt stiff in the saddle, had been a year since I d rode
And I d never been on him save an afternoon lope
But this was the last thing on my tortured mind
As I put heels to belly and my band played the time

Chorus:

```
      D              C              G
He was a big sorrel gelding with a golden streaked mane

      D              C              G
A silver mounted saddle and hand braided reins

      G              C              G
He had one blue eye that was clear like the rain

                        D              G
But the horse I rode in on felt none of my pain
```

(Intro)

Well we made quite an entrance in show business style
And ten thousand people all witnessed my smile
But you were not there among them I m sorry to say
As I rode through the crowd toward the big outdoor stage

If my pony was skittish with all the people around
And if he spooked just a little when the spotlight shone down
It s nothing compared to the heart break and pain
That come with a love that has withered in vain

Chorus
(Intro)

So we played through the show and like I always do
I sang every one of the love songs for you
Then I climbed right back on him and I spurred him away
And as the cheers and the dust from the arena did fade
I didnâ€™t feel like no cowboy anymore, anyway

Chorus
