| I felt stiff in the saddle, had been a year since I d rode And I d never been on him save an afternoon lope But this was the last thing on my tortured mind As I put heels to belly and my band played the time |
| Chorus: D C G He was a big sorrel gelding with a golden streaked mane D C G A silver mounted saddle and hand braided reins G C G He had one blue eye that was clear like the rain D G But the horse I rode in on felt none of my pain |

Ι

Well we made quite an entrance in show business style
And ten thousand people all witnessed my smile
But you were not there among them I m sorry to say
As I rode through the crowd toward the big outdoor stage

If my pony was skittish with all the people around And if he spooked just a little when the spotlight shone down It s nothing compared to the heart break and pain That come with a love that has withered in vain

Chorus (Intro)

So we played through the show and like I always do I sang every one of the love songs for you Then I climbed right back on him and I spurred him away And as the cheers and the dust from the arena did fade I didnâ \in The I like no cowboy anymore, anyway
