Used to say in faither s day, you could hear the bagpipes play, but now you hear the regal tones o Elton John and The Rolling Stones.
Land that is full o stinkers, tattooed moos and VP drinkers.
whisky put a lot o stinkers, into Scottish graves.

Land that is full o skivers, comic singers, deep sea divers, tunnocks tea cakes and irn bru, Scotland the Brave.
Land o the brutal Bobbies, councillors wi part-time jobbies, architects wi paying hobbies, Scotland the Brave.

[Verse]

The tourists come here every year to see all our historic gear, but all they see is loads o navvies, high rise flats wi concrete lavvies.
Land o the artic lorries, Andy Stewart and the Corries, land where everybody borries, Scotland the Brave.

[Verse]

Land o the Kilt and Sporrán, underneath, there s nothin worn !

How I wish the wind was warm ! Scotland the Brave.

I must admit it s pretty gruesome, walking about wi your frozen twosome, it s all we ve got, we mustn t lose em, Scotland the Brave

[Verse]

Conservatives try to assure us, Labour s hard-put to endure us, the Kirk puts curbs on our enjoyment, Government makes unemployment.

Never mind, the day is near, when independence will be here, we ll drink a toast in Younger s beer to Scotland the Brave !
