

You Call This Holiday
The Decline

[Verse]

Something s never change, but we re not the way we used to be.
Bm F#m G
You ll get married soon, to a friend you knew and it s the last of you we ll see.
D G
Let s move away, a job in a different state.
Bm F#m G
A million times, I m tired of playing songs that sound this way,

[Verse]

Em A
Are we losing touch with the things that we believed?
F#m Bm
Where once was home, is a long hallway - abandoned and lonely.
Em A Em A
Somewhere you leave your stuff, every six months -
D G
and only go to visit people that|you used to know on holidays.
D F#m Bm G Gm
I remember when we said we d never be the same again.

[Verse]

D G
Searching for the light - a city that feels right.
Bm F#m G
And as you roam, I wonder where you ll lay your head tonight.
D G
The longest road, I could never bare the load.
Bm F#m G
I m half a world away thinking of when you re coming home.

[Verse]

Em A
Are we losing us? The connections we once had?
D F#m Bm
When we don t talk, you seem okay. Can it really be so bed?
Em A Em A
I guess I ll sell your stuff, in a couple of months.
D Gm
Long enough for me to get it through my head - You re never coming home.

[Chorus]

D F#m Bm G Gm
I remember when we said we d never be the same again.

D F#m Bm G Gm
And I remember when we said that some things never change.

[Verse]

D G
Can I stay the same? Will I still lay down my life?

B F#m G
Dreaming of an aisle seat, coffee eyes and an early morning flight.

D G
Will I be alone? Will I see you on the road?

Bm F#m G
I know we said we d never change but i guess you never know.

E A
Are we losing touch with the things that we believe?

D F#m B
And we won t talk - you ll be okay, and I guess we ll wait and see,

E A E A
if we have enough, to survive next month.

G
And you won t see me at reunions, bars or coffee shops cause I m never coming home.

[Chorus]

D F#m Bm G Gm
I remember when we said we d never be the same again.

D A D Bm G Gm
And I remember when we said that some things never change.
