The Divine Comedy

Intro
 D    F#m    Em    G
 D    F#m    Em    G

D                      F#m     Em        G
If you were the road      I d go all the way
D                      F#m     Em          G
If you were the night     I d sleep in the day
D                      F#m     Em          G
If you were the day       I d cry in the night
D                      F#m     Em          G
 Cause you are the way     The truth and the light

D              F#m     Em     G           D
If you were a tree,    I could put my arms around you
F#m                         Em      G
And you could not complain
D             F#m     Em     G           D         F#m
If you were a tree,     I could carve my name into your side
        Em        G
And you would not cry,
       D          F#m    Em      G
Cause trees don t cry

 D    F#m    Em    G

D                F#m     Em     G           D
If you were a man,    I would still love you
D              F#m     Em     G           D
If you were a drink, I d drink my fill of you
D          F#m      Em     G           D
If you were attacked, I would kill for you
D                 F#m     Em     G           D
If your name was Jack,  I d change mine to Jill for you

D              F#m     Em          G                 D
If you were a horse, I d clean the crap out of your stable
F#m                      Em      G
And never once complain

D                    F#m
If you were a horse,
F#          Bbm                    G#m           G#m/B
I could ride you through the fields at dawn

F#           Bbm                          G#m          G#m/B
Through the day until the day was gone
F#           Bbm                          G#m          G#m/B
I could sing about you in my songs
F#    Bbm     G#m     G#m/B    A    D
As we rode away into the sett---ing sun

(Sun)
  D    F#m     Em     G
  D    F#m     Em     G
  D    F#m     Em     G
  D    F#m     Em     G

D         F#m      Em          G
If you were,  my little girl
D          F#m           Em           G
I would find it hard to let you go
D       F#m      Em          G
If you were,   my sister
D          F#m        Em           G
I would find it doubly so

D                    F#m     Em              G                    D
If you were a dog,  I d feed you scraps from off the table
F#m                       Em           G
Though my wife complains
D                   F#m    Em       Gm
If you were my dog  I am sure you d like it better then,
Gm
you d be my loyal four legged friend
Gm
You d never have to think again
Gm
And we could be together till the end
