                    The Drums - Days

Intro: D, G, A

```
          D         G   A
And our days go by
        D                G   A
And I never needed you
          D         G   A
And our days go by
        D                G   A
And I never needed you

          D         G    A
And I worked so hard
         D         G   A
And I killed myself
           D         G    A
And you broke my bones
         D         G   A
And I sold my soul

          D         G   A
But now days go by
         D                G   A
And I never needed you
          D         G   A
And our days go by
         D                G   A
And I never needed you

D

G                              A     D
And I could have been your brother
   G                          A     D
And I could have been your sister
```

```
G                    A        D
Be your twin brother
G                           A
I just wanted to be

          D         G  A
And our days go by
        D            G  A
And I never needed you
          D         G  A
And our days go by
        D            G  A
And I never needed you

A

                D
We were just wasting time x6

      D         G  A
...days go by
        D            G  A
And I never needed you
          D         G  A
And our days go by
        D            G  A
And I never needed you

Enjoy :)
