

I Could Be A King
The Dunwells

Song: I Could Be A King
Artist: The Dunwells
Album: Blind Sighted Faith
Tabbed by: Patrick Gamache

This is a fairly easy song to play, so I decided to tab it out. I put in some extra stuff that makes it sound a little bit cooler (to mimic the second guitar and occasionally the banjo and the bass) if you are playing by yourself. The only difficult part about this song is the timing on the chord changes, but that comes with a little bit of practice. If you don't know some of the chords, here they are the way I play them:

D	xx0232
G	320033
A	x02220
Dsus4	xx0233
Dsus2	xx0230
G5	355xxx
F5	133xxx

Based on a recently released video, there is another way that The Dunwells play this song. I think it sounds a little bit better, but it requires a capo. Also, it becomes much harder to do the fills with the Dsus chords. Use your best judgement.

Guitar 2		Guitar 1
CAPO 2		NO CAPO
G/C	332010	=	D	xx0232
Fmaj7	x33210	=	G	320033
Gmaj7	x55432	=	A	x02220
N/A			Dsus4	xx0233
N/A			Dsus2	xx0230
see bottom*			G5	355xxx
see bottom*			F5	133xxx

One final note: sometimes when Joe is playing the Fmaj7 chord, he will do this nifty little fill:

E	-0-0-0-
B	-1-1-1-
G	-2p0h2-
D	-3-3-3-
A	-3-3-3-
E	-----

Use it at your leisure if you're playing with a capo. Without further ado, here s the actual song.
