

Born Yesterday
The Everly Brothers

Born Yesterday

Am G
Living in the city where the walls have ears
Bm C
People judge you by the words they hear
Am G
Shake their heads while they chew your name
Bm C
And then they write it on a wall

People see you and they turn their heads
Whisper words you might have said
Point to a spot where you may have bled
Then they write it on a wall

Chorus:

G Em
He lost his mind today, she threw his clothes away
Am D
The love they thought would last just flew away
G Em
She lost her mind today, he threw her ring away
Am D
They act as if they were born yesterday
G C G C
And I wonder whose heart hurts the worst
G C G
And who knows whose heart was broke first

No one gives them the love they need
Or helps them through their time of grief
After all, it could be you or me
We re just human after all

Chorus

They lost their minds today, they threw their love away
They act as if they were born yesterday...
