Acordesweb.com

Lovers Never Say Goodbye
The Flamingos

Lovers Never Say Goodbye by The Flamingos

I figured this out when I was messing around at my grandparents house. VERY EASY So here it is.

```
                    G                 D                 G
      Please wait for me, for i shall return. My love for you, will forever
        D     B7             D7                        G              D burn, though we must part there s no reason to cry, just say  so long G                            G                 D because lovers never say goodbye.I love you my darling, more than G                          D               D7 life itself, i wouldn t try to hurt you, for i d only be hurting G then open strum G                                    D myself, just kiss me dear, and hold me tight, for you know this is D         G              D      G                   D not our last night,though we must part, there s no reason to cry, G          D        D                         G        G just say  so long , because lovers never say goodbye. Never say goodbye, goodbye.
        D        D
```