A Walk In The Irish Rain

When the sun goes down o'er Dublin town, the colors last for hours, oh
The lights come on, the night's a song and the streets all turn to gold.
A gentle mist all heaven kissed, like teardrops off an angel's wing
Don't you know you'll cleanse your soul with a walk in the Irish rain.

Oh, Katherine, take my hand, I've got three pounds and change
And I'll sing you songs of love again and when I get too drunk to sing
We'll walk in the Irish rain.

Forever more I've stepped ashore, my sailing days are over, oh
Through time and tide and by your side together we'll grow old.
I threw my sea bag in the bin and brought these pretty flowers home
Kiss me Kate, we'll celebrate before the bloom is gone.

Oh, Katherine, take my hand, I've got three pounds and change
And I'll sing you songs of love again and when I get too drunk to sing
We'll walk in the Irish rain.

(A capella)
A tinker and a tailor and a drunken old sailor
They all get together and they start to play
Time stands still while they sing their fill
They'll shout 'til the break of day.

A sweet little lady with a glass of stout

Sippin it down til the foam runs out

She ll help her old man home again with a walk in the Irish rain.

Oh, Katherine, take my hand, I ve got three pounds and change

And I ll sing you songs of love again and when I get too drunk to sing

We ll walk in the Irish rain.
