The Libertines - Smashing

Ok, One of my favourite Libertines songs, although i prefer it when its played in the Babysambles sessions, which is where i have tabbed it from. I m pretty sure its spot on after playing along with the recording.

I play this with all bar chords up near fret twelve, it can be played with open chords.... which does sound a bit closer to the recording i must admit, i just prefer the sound of the high notes in the bar chords...

and remember.... slowly slowly catchy monkey..... that applies to almost every situation.....

Bar chords- Open chords-
