

Book Of Me And You
The Maine

BOOK OF ME AND YOU
THE MAINE

Intro: E Bm F#m [2x]

Bm E F#m Bm

here we are, spinning in circles again

E F#m G#m E G#m

we are young enough to think that we can but nobody is to blame

E F#m

funny how things don't change at all but i keep thinking

maybe we'll be good someday

[chorus]

E Bm F#m G#m
and we'll find another window with a different point of view

E Bm F#m G#m
and we'll wake up here tomorrow expecting something new

E Bm F#m G#m
what are we thinking, are we really thinking it through?

E Bm F#m
or is this just another chapter in the book of me and you?

E Bm F#m E Bm F#m
yeah, the book of me and you

Bm E F#m Bm
i turn the page, thinking i can turn this around

E F#m G#m
the page every wall that's up must come down

E G#m E F#m funny how it never does, trying to make it like it was it won't work, but i keep thinking time will make us strong enough

E Bm F#m G#m
and we'll find another window with a different point of view

E Bm F#m G#m
and we'll wake up here tomorrow expecting something new

E Bm F#m G#m
what are we thinking, are we really thinking it through?

E Bm F#m
or is this just another chapter in the book of me and you?

C#m E i keep on looking back and every place i go seems you were there

C#m E
it makes me laugh that we're still crashing into nothing and i swear
C#m E

we always end up where we started

Bm E F#m

here we are...

E Bm F#m G#m

and we ll find another window with a different point of view

E Bm F#m G#m

and we ll wake up here tomorrow expecting something new

what are we thinking, are we really thinking it through?

E Bm F#m

or is this just another chapter in the book of me and you?

E Bm F#m E Bm F#m

yeah, the book of me and you.
