Timothy Leary s dead; No, no, no, no he s outside looking in.
Timothy Leary s dead; No, no, no, no he s outside looking in.
He ll fly his astral plane,
Take you trips around the bay,
Bring you back the same day,

Along the coast, you ll hear them boast
About a light they say that shines so clear.
So raise you glass, we ll drink a toast,
To the little man who ll sell you thrills along the peir.
He ll take you up; he ll bring you down,
He ll plant you feet back firmly on the ground.
He ll fly so high; he ll swim so low,
He knows exactly which way he s gonna go.
(on this verse play the natural barre)
Α
He ll take you up, he ll bring you down,
He ll plant your feet back on the ground.
