

Florida Days
The Raging Nathans

[Verse 1]

G                E    G            E                G
I ve been lying, I m a piece of shit
                         E                                D                                C
And now I m crying over something that you won t admit
G                E    G            E                G
Caught red-handed staring at the sun
                         E                                D                                C
I m counting down these Florida days one by one

[Chorus]

G                                C                                B
Swimming in the ocean has never felt so lonesome
A
I can t believe this ends tonight
G                                C                                B
Swimming in the ocean has never felt so lonesome
A
I just want to hold you one last time

[Interlude]

E G C x4

[Verse 2]

G                E    G            E                G
I ve been lying, I m a piece of shit
                         E                                D                                C
And now you re crying over something that I won t admit
G                E    G            E                G
Caught red-handed staring at the sun
                         E                                D                                C
I m counting down these Florida days one by one

[Chorus]
