

One Season
The Roches

i love this song. wish i wrote it.

hard to sing, though,

unless you ve got pitch-perfect 3 part harmony...

i LOVE the dissonant verses , which i used to drive my ex-landlady crazy listening to at top volume 15 years ago (but it served her right,as she d make me nuts listening to opera at 1000 decibles...)

i think this is right, but maggie tunes her guitar down to,
i think, Eb (if you want to play along w/the recording).

corrections, suggestions, etc. are welcome.

One Season

-The Roches (Maggie)

(guitar tuned down to Eb !!)

A D
One season I was born
E D
fell down like an acorn
A F#m
I am the only tree
D E A
and everybody leaves

D A D
I ve got to get away from you

A D A D

A D
Bud growing up at me
E D
resentful face I see A F#m
a harsh light seems to damn you
D E A
is it because I am you?

D A D

I ve got to get away from you
A D A D
i need to find a love that s true

A D
Loose leaf lay on the bed
E D
hair falling around her head
A F#m
I watched her from the shore
I can t do any more

D A D
I ve got to get away from you
A D A D
I ll come and visit you in the zoo

(dissonant verse!)

A D
We go on arguing
E D
no one can say a thing
A F#m set down your key and trumpet
D E A go have a dream and hump it

D A D
I ve got to get away from you
A D A D
you don t know what you put me through

G C D C G..Em...Am... C G C...G E aahhhh....

A D Prized fighter with bruised pride
E D
a fuse blew when you tried
A F#m
to fix the worn out wire D E A
and set the house on fire

D A D
I ve got to get away from you
A D A D
if only for a day or two

A D A D

you don t know what you put me through
