The Shouting Matches

Song: Gallup, New Mexico
Artist: The Shouting Matches
Tabbed by: Mitch Peters

Its only really two chords through the song; F#m to E, but the guitar organ throw in some variations occasionally, mostly F#m7 and an E chord with an added b note (when i play the barr chord with the A string base note, i just take my pinky off to achieve the variation).

F#m E
On to Gallup, on to San Antonio

F#m E
It was in Phoenix, yeah, I was on the radio

F#m E
Ah hi hi ah hi hi Abilene

When you know, yeah

F#m
You know that your lies are talking

E
You know that your lies are walking with the truth

Through El Paso, you passed me up so long ago
It was a hard and calling road, I ve been denied

Just when you know that
You know that your lies are talking
When you know that your lies are walking with the truth
And you were always looking
And I was always cooking up the proof

That s when you know that
When you know that your lies are talking
You know that your lies are walking with the truth
When you were always looking
And I was always cooking up the proof
