Verse 1:

C	F
If you ever hear a noise in the night;
C	F
Your body starts to sweat, it shakes and shivers in fright.
C	F
You go and sleep with your mother; she hates your guts,
C	F
She knows that you love her, so she holds you tight,
C	F
All through the night, until the broad day-light.
C	F
And when she doesn't come home, you have to sleep a-lone,
C	F
Then you wet your bed and I think that's sad;
C	F (C5)
For a girl of nine-teen, it's more than sad; it's ob-scene.

C	F
And your girlfriend sweet; little seventeen,

C F
 She s got her layered hair and her flared jeans.
C F
 You know what that means? She s just a little queen,
C F
 She shares your London flat;
C F
 She thinks that London s where it s at; although it stinks!
C F
 And when it rains, you wear your hat,
C F
 And your plum coloured PVC, wet look maxi-mac.
C F
 You tie your ginger hair back in a bun;
C F (C5)
 You re the ugliest creature, under the sun.

 And you think it s about time that you died,
C F
 And I a-gree; so you decide on suicide.
C F
 You tried, but you never quite carried it off;
C F
 You only wanted to die in order to show off.
C F
 And if you think you re gonna bleed all over me;
C F
 You re even wronger than you d normally be.

C
F
 And the only things you want to see are kitsch,
C
F
 The only thing you want to be is rich.
C
F
 Your little pink, up-pointed nose be-gins to twitch;
C

(C5)
 I know, you know; you re just a little bitch.
