Verse 1:

D G
If you ever hear a noise in the night;
D G
Your body starts to sweat, it shakes and shivers in fright.
D G
You go and sleep with your mother; she hates your guts,
D G
She knows that you love her, so she holds you tight,
D G
All through the night, until the broad day-light.
D G
And when she doesn't come home, you have to sleep a-lone,
D G
Then you wet your bed and I think that's sad;
D G (D5)
For a girl of nine-teen, it's more than sad; it's ob-scene.

Verse 2:

D G
And your girlfriend sweet; little seventeen,

D G
 She s got her layered hair and her flared jeans.
D G
 You know what that means? She s just a little queen,
D G
 She shares your London flat;
D G
 She thinks that London s where it s at; although it stinks!
D G
 And when it rains, you wear your hat,
D G
 And your plum coloured PVC, wet look maxi-mac.
D G
 You tie your ginger hair back in a bun;
D G (D5)
 You re the ugliest creature, under the sun.

Verse 3:

D G
 And you think it s about time that you died,
D G
 And I a-gree; so you decide on suicide.
D G
 You tried, but you never quite carried it off;
D G
 You only wanted to die in order to show off.
D G
 And if you think you re gonna bleed all over me;
D G
 You re even wronger than you d normally be.

D G
And the only things you want to see are kitsch,

D G
The only thing you want to be is rich.

D G
Your little pink, up-pointed nose be-gins to twitch;

D G (D5)
I know, you know; you re just a little bitch.
