Break: E A E A E A E

Do some people wind up with the one that they abhor
In a distant hell-hole room, the third world war
But all I see is films where colourless despair
Meant angry young men with immaculate hair ooh sometimes...

Get up a voice inside says there s no time for looking down
Only a pound a word & you re talking to the town
But how do you coin the phrase though
That will set your soul apart

Just to touch a lonely heart

And it s you & me in the summertime      We ll be hand down in the park with a squeeze & a sigh & that twinkle in your eye
And all the sunshine banishes the dark
And it s you I need in the summertime      As I turn my white skin red
Two peas from the same pod yes we are      Or have I read too much fiction?

Is this how it happens?                      How does it happen?
How does it happen?                          How does it happen?
Is this how it happens?                      Now, right now
