I said throw me in the fire now, c mon

C#m                                    Asus2                                    Ema j                                    Asus2
Cause we will paint our house with water,

C#m                                    Asus2                                    Bsus4
To have an outlet for the sigh.

C#m                                    Asus2                                    Ema j                                    Asus2
And as I never see the changes,

C#m                                    Asus2                                    Bsus4
I will be useless as I try, as I say baby don t cry.

Ema j                                    Asus2                                    Ema j                                    Asus2
You said I look just like Mosiah on a cloudy night just findin out.

Ema j                                    Asus2                                    Bsus4
The wise men lost but still they found a son.

Ema j                                    Asus2                                    Ema j                                    Asus2
And deep into the orchard you will lead me by the skin of snakes,

Ema j                                    Asus2                                    Bsus4
to let me know my sentence as they dry.

Asus2                                    Bsus4
I said throw me in the fire now, c mon

Asus2                                    Bsus4
I said throw me in the fire now, c mon

C#m                                    Asus2                                    Ema j                                    Asus2
Cause we will paint our house with water,
