

The Moon
The White Buffalo

Thought I did, but then I don't Feel much anymore
The string between bad and good
Is a little misunderstood
Oh, and then it turns to doubt
And then you kick and scream and cast me out
And all that I know is true
Is I'm hollow as the ocean's blue

CHORUS:

Lonely days, I await you
Shadows and graves, I'll be visiting soon
Will I ever
Will I ever see the moon again

Tossed and turned, can't figure out
If humans have all rung down
Where they're going, I don't know for sure, but they
They hide and hide and hide
Who will know, will they return, as they've
They've all turned to ash and burned
Well, at a road side at night
I think that my love's run out

CHORUS:

C ~ Am C G
Lonely days, I await you

C ~ Am C G
Shadows and graves, I ll be visiting soon

F
Will I ever

G C ~ Am C ~ Am C ~ Am C ~ Am
Will I ever see the moon again
