

Only Myself To Blame
The Yards

LINK TO OFFICIAL SITE - <http://www.theyards.org/>

(Fronted by Chris Helme - ex Seahorses singer)

I think this is right, it may differ to the actual song slightly but it s good enough to have a jam with yourself.

E                                Bm                                E
You and I have got so much to learn
E                                Bm                                E
And besides, Iâ€™ve eaten all these words
E                                Bm                                G                                A
Tell a lie and Iâ€™ll tell you what itâ€™s woooooorth

E                                Bm                                E
I canâ€™t believe the things I some times say
E                                Bm                                E
Thereâ€™s a trail of destruction in my wake
E                                Bm                                G                                A
Is there a limit to the shit that you can taaaaaake?

CHORUS

E                                Bm                                E
Only myself to blame
E                                Bm                                E
Wonâ€™t be a fool again
E                                Bm
Hanging my head in shame
   D                                Dsus2 E
As youâ€™re holding up my sky

E                                Bm                                E
You and I should never let it go
E                                Bm                                E
We get it together and I let my feelings show
E                                Bm                                G                                A
Youâ€™re so high Iâ€™m somewhere down beloowooooow

BACK TO CHORUS

Send any corrections to xwildturkeyx@yahoo.com