

Theres A Great Big Beautiful Tomorrow
They Might Be Giants

I know this isn t completely right and in a different key than what they play, so if you
correct it please do!!

This is one of my favorite songs, originally written by the Sherman Brothers for Walt
Disney s Carousel of Progress for the 1964 New York World Fair and re-done by
They Might
Be Giants for Meet the Robinsons. Meet the Robinsons is one of my favorite movies
because, like the Carousel of Progress, it presents Walt s love for technology and making the future brighter.

B E
There s a great, big, beautiful tomorrow
B E
Shining at the end of every day
B C#m
There s a great, big, beautiful tomorrow
F# B
And tomorrow s just a dream away
B E
Man has a dream and that s the start
B E
He follows his dream with mind and heart
G#m C#m
And when it becomes a reality
F#
It s a dream come true for you and me
B E
So there s a great, big, beautiful tomorrow
G#m C#m
Shining at the end of every day
A E
There s a great, big, beautiful tomorrow
A B E
Just a dream away
