1st Verse

I woke, cold and alone, adrift in the open sea
Caught up in regret, and tangled in nets
Instead of your arms wrapped around me
And I wept, but my tears are anathema here, just more water to fill my lungs
I hear someone scream God what is it we have done??

Chorus:

```
      C                      Em
I am drowning in a digital sea
      C                      Em
I am slipping beneath the sound
      C                      Em
Here my voice goes to ones and zeros
      C                      Am
I'm slipping beneath the sound
```

2nd Verse

A song somewhere below deadly and slow begins
Sickly and sweet, now picking up speed, and ushering in the world's end
And the ghost of Descartes screams again in the dark
Oh how could I have been so wrong??
But above the screams still the sirens sing their song

Chorus
