

Yellow Belly Thrice

Standard, capo on 2nd fret

In short:

Verse: E, C, Am

Chorus: G, A, E (note: Dustin does power chords for the G and A)

Outro: C, Am, E

With lyrics:

Verse

You were built for blessing but you only make them bleed,

E C Am

but you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t care.

E C Am

And bruises are but shadows of the blackness that you breathe

E C Am

but you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t care.

E C Am

The light that s left inside their eyes is darkened day by day

but you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t care.

The presence pulls the color from the world til all is grey but you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t, you donâ€™t, you donâ€™t.

Chorus (Strange rhythm here, watch videos of them playing it to get it right)

You re less than half a man,

G A E
yellow belly and crimson hands,

G A E
You will one day reap your reckoning,

Maybe then youâ€™ll understand.

Interlude (Just play E here)

Ooooohh....

Verse

Your hands are made to comfort but they only conjure fear

But you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t care.

Sheâ€™s in the closet praying Lord please get me out of here you donâ€™t care, you donâ€™t you donâ€™t you donâ€™t.

Chorus x2

Outro x2

What mercy have they known,

C Am E

from you, from you.

C Am E

To ask that I be shown,

to you, to you.
