

Child Of God
Todd Proctor

D                                   A
Life laid down, crucified,
Bm                                   D
arms stretched out and opened wide, G                                   E                                   A
to rescue me, so i could be, a child of God.
D   A
From nail-pierced hands and thorn pierced brow,
Bm   D
your love flowed down to me somehow, G   A                                   D
it rescued me, so i could be, a child of God.
A   D                                   G
Praise to the lamb that was slain,
A   Bm                                   G                                   A praise to the Father, who gave His son away.
D   A
The proof of love, the price of grace,
Bm   D
you traded all to take my place,
G   A                                   Bm                                   D
and died for me, so i could be, a child of God, G   A                                   Dsus                                   D
you died for me, so i could be, a child of God.
