(rest of the song is the same progressions repeated, the rest of the lyrics are)

You heard his story now hear mine, I live inside a coward s mind
Where every dream I dream gets shot down all of the time
If I don t jump into the fray he ll mope around and waste the day
He s like a ton of concrete tied to me, tied around my waist

And he knows he has to but he doesn t know how and he knows that I know he can do without and I know that he needs it so bad, but then I realize it s clear that he knows that in the end, I ll never know what hides inside his..

Head, I don't wanna seem ungrateful
I don't wanna seem like I don't need anyone's help to get me through these rainy days, to push through the haze so I can get on my feet and I can stand up and do what it takes
