Toaster In The Bathtub
Tony Sly

On a bit of a Tony Sly kick lately so I thought I would figure out a few tunes.

Toaster in the Bathtub

Tuning is DGCFAD - need to drop a whole step - sounds the most correct to me.

Intro:
G#, Eb, C# x2

```
          G#
You re a flame and i m a candle
      Eb                  C#
I m a wick and you re a breeze
      G#
I m a rock and you re paper
        C#                  Eb
And i m scissors if you please
```

```
          Fm
You see i can t find myself these days
C#
I don t know where to look
        G#              Eb                  G#
Turn the page, hit the lights, close the book
```

          G#
You re a building, i m on fire
          Eb              C#
You re the truth and i m a lie
      G#
I m a toaster in the bathtub
          C#              Eb
You re a beacon in the night
```

    Fm
But we suffer from the same disease
C#
And play each other s games
        G#              Eb
You re a day in the park
        G#
I m the rain

```
              C#                    G#
So, get your get head off the ground
              Fm        Eb        G#
And let your soul be found, yeah

G#
I m a reason on a long list
Eb                        C#
You re an angel and a saint
         G#
I m the tears in your lap
         C#                    Eb
And the time that you will waste

Fm
I hope that we can stitch it
    C#
If we haven t broke the seams
         G#                  Eb
Life is short, is this all
           G#
You have dreamed?

                C#                    G#
So, get your get head off the ground
              Fm        Eb
And let your soul be found,
                C#                    G#
So, get your get head off the ground
              Fm        Eb                    G#
And let your soul be found,
```
